

Nation Faces Shipping Walkouts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Labor negotiators for the East and Gulf Coast shipping industry, the bituminous coal mine operators and the nation's railroads today faced the possibility of midnight strikes. At least one walkout was considered likely.

The AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association was deadlocked with New York shipping firms in a dispute over extending a guaranteed annual wage provision of an expiring contract.

With representatives of other ILA locals at ports from Maine to Texas pledged to join in any New York harbor walkout, the result could be a strike by 45,000 East and Gulf Coast dock workers.

West Coast ports have been closed since July by the striking International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union. If the ILA goes out every deep water port in the country would be closed to dry cargo shipments.

In Washington talks covering 80,000 coal miners moved toward a midnight contract expiration deadline with no sign of a settlement.

Sources said it appeared virtually impossible to write a formal contract between the United Mine Workers and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association before the deadline. The union is seeking to boost top wages to $50 a day from $37 and win other benefits.

With the miners' tradition of "no contract, no work," even a general memorandum of understanding probably would not prevent walkouts in some of the 20 coal-producing states, the sources said.

Also in Washington are the negotiations between the nation's railroads and the 13,000-member AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen, who precipitated a two-day nationwide rail strike last May.

President Nixon's 4½-month strike ban which ended the walkout expires at midnight but a source said Wednesday no new action was considered likely by the union while talks continued.

Signalmen's hourly wages went from $3.78 to $4.29 retroactive to Jan. 1 under emergency legislation Congress passed to end the walkout. The remainder of the 42-month package is under negotiation.

No Change in Weather Expected

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Little change is expected in the Arkansas weather picture for the next few days.

Temperatures will continue to range 5 to 10 degrees above normal for this time of year with highs in the upper 80s to mid 90s.

Highs Wednesday included 94 at Jonesboro and 93 at Little Rock. Nights will be mild with lows in the 60s to low 70s.

No rainfall of consequence is likely the next few days although a few scattered afternoon and early evening thundershowers may occur. A few widely scattered afternoon thundershowers, mainly the result of afternoon heating, were reported Wednesday.

Nixon Required to Spend Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Agricultural Committee has voted to require the Nixon administration to spend more money to provide a free or reduced-price school meal for every needy child in the country.

By a vote of 8-5, the committee Wednesday approved a resolution directing the Secretary of Agriculture to use a special fund, derived from import duties on farm products to up the allowance per meal from 35 to 45 cents.

Red China Working on New Image

HONG KONG (AP) — Chinese Communists in Hong Kong began their main celebration today for China's National Day, with the emphasis placed on Chinese unity and solidarity with "oppressed people" throughout the world instead of on party Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

The Bank of China, main seat for Communist Chinese activity in Hong Kong, was holding a large cocktail party to commemorate the 22nd anniversary Friday of the founding of Communist China.

In comparison with past years, decorations and slogans on Communist buildings in Hong Kong are paying little attention to Mao. Replacing the Mao thoughts are signs mostly acclaiming the anniversary and proclaiming China a world revolutionary leader.

Decorations went up late this year. The Bank of China delayed until Wednesday erection on the top of its building a sign saying "Long Live Chairman Mao."

Scores of dinners, parties and other functions have been arranged by Communist banks, companies, newspapers, unions and other organizations.

A Chinese Communist newspaper said in a commentary on National Day that Red China "must continue to root out the thought of big power chauvinism and the tendency to formalism which arises out of holding fast to old things and old habits."

The Hong Kong edition of the Shanghai newspaper Wen Wei Po, listing actions necessary for China to lead "world revolution," said: "We feel deeply this kind of spirit from the activities of our fatherland's people in celebrating the National Day."

The newspaper's commentary appeared to be an elaboration on "reforms" which China has given as a reason for canceling two major National Day events in Peking.

The Red Chinese Foreign Ministry said dropping the banquet in favor of 90-minute reception was "another reform we have made."

Rumors have circulated that the parade, where Mao makes a personal appearance each year, was dropped because the party chairman was dead or very ill. None of the rumors has been confirmed by reports from China.

Wife Wants a Snappy Dresser; But High Heel Boots With Zippers?

By WILLIAM L. CHAZE

Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — My wife has been after me for months to dress bit more snappily, to jettison pinstripes and cordovan for weirdly patterned knits and over-the-ankle boots with zippers up the sides.

And, for months, I have resisted, using the logic that if I just hang in there unstylishly, it will all pass and I will have saved a few dollars.

My wife accepted this in bitter silence, apparently resigned to life with a drab husband. I thought the matter was settled until I came home a few days ago and found a large box on the couch.

She smiled winningly as I opened it and, to my astonishment, found a pair of brown boots with zippers up the side, sharply squared toes and, so help me, leather heels an inch and a quarter high. An inch and a quarter.

What can you say in a spot like that? The dear woman clearly felt she was doing me a kindness—had, in fact, paid for the boots with her own money, saved from the grocery allowance.

I managed a nice smile and said I had changed my mind, that I could accept the boots but to spare me any more surprises because I had a hangup

Soviet, U.S. Sign Pact on Arms

By LEWIS GULICK

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union signed two disarmament side-agreements today and pledged to pursue their efforts for a mutual curb on their missile systems.

Signing for the United States at a State Department ceremony, Secretary of State William P. Rogers said the two new accords reflect the "new imperative of the nuclear age."

The agreements provide for modernizing the Washington-Moscow hot line by using satellite communications, and for prompt consultation to avoid nuclear war by accident.

Rogers spoke of the major nuclear arms curb agreement being sought by the two superpowers in their Strategic Arms Limitations Talks (SALT) due to reconvene in Vienna in November.

He said "considerable progress has been made in this larger endeavor, but much remains to be done" in the negotiations.

CHICAGO (AP) — The Commerce Clearing House News Bureau said Wednesday that combined state and local taxes in Arkansas in the 1970 fiscal year were $252 per capita, the lowest per capita total in the nation.

Tennessee and Mississippi were the only neighbors of Arkansas under $300.

Cyanide Found in Dead Cows

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Department of Pollution Control and Ecology reported Wednesday that deadly cyanide has been found in test samples taken from the Fulton Sanitary Landfill in the Pleasant Hill area near Rogers.

Sid Fitzgerald, sanitary engineer for the department, said indications were that there was cyanide in water samples the department took from water standing in potholes below the landfill.

The samples were taken from the department after seven cows were found dead in a pasture adjacent to the dump. The cows were found dead in the bottom of a spring-fed creek, which feeds about 10 wells in the area. The draw in which the stream runs empties into Beaver Lake, about three-quarters of a mile from the site of the dead cows.

Residents of the area stopped using water from the wells. Fitzgerald said no connection has been proved between the death of the cattle and what was on the landfill. He said the investigation was continuing.

Fitzgerald said the source of the cyanide had been traced to Daisy Manufacturing Co. He said waste sludge from Daisy's plating process was dumped at the landfill and that cyanide was used in the plating process.

He said the landfill operator took the waste on the understanding it was harmless, and Fitzgerald said it was harmless in the form in which it was taken to the dump.

Hurricane Ginger Hits N.C. Coast

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP) — Hurricane Ginger pounded the North Carolina coast with 90-mile-per-hour winds today, knocking out electric and telephone service, smashing windows and flooding lowlying areas.

The eye of the monster hurricane, the oldest and one of the largest in size on record, was expected to invade the coast shortly before noon in an area where hundreds of island and coastal residents were huddled in Red Cross shelters set up in schools, churches and National Guard armories.

The U.S. Weather Service said 90 m.p.h. winds were reported as early as 4:30 a.m. at Atlantic Beach near here. A Civil Defense official said the town evacuated half of its 1,500 area residents.

At 6 a.m. EDT Ginger's 70-mile-wide eye was about 30 miles southeast of Morehead City near Latitude 34.4 North and Longitude 76.8 west and moving northwestward at 15 m.p.h.

Gale force winds, which had extended 250 miles in all directions from the eye of the storm, began knocking down power lines and blowing out windows during the night along the coast. Weather forecasters said Ginger would continue her onslaught of the area for up to 50 hours.

Police Chief W. W. Moore of Atlantic Beach said all of his community was plunged into darkness during the night when power lines were knocked down. Parts of nearby Beaufort, a town of about 5,000, also were blacked out temporarily. Both areas went on auxiliary power.

At New Bern, torrential rains pushed the Neuse and Trent rivers out of their banks and left a foot of water in a street near their confluence. The water was rising at 18 inches an hour.

Red Cross official Stu Taber said 1,564 residents had taken refuge in improvised shelters during the night in the counties of Cartaret, Pamlico and Craven.

Homeowners and vacationers were put in other Red Cross shelters as far south as Oak Island, below Wilmington near the South Carolina state line.

Tides were predicted to go seven feet above normal. Tidal waters during the night already had begun flooding roads on Goose Creek Island above Morehead City in Pamlico Sound.

Civil Defense Director Darrell Quigley had ordered the evacuation of the island's 80 residents, but not all left.

Boycott of Vietnam Election

By CARL D. ROBINSON

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Political foes of President Nguyen Van Thieu renewed a call today for a voters' boycott of Sunday's one-man presidential election and prepared for a "people's congress" to unite opposition factions.

Members of South Vietnam's Senate, in a two-hour debate, accused Thieu of "oppressing the press" by confiscating antigovernment newspapers. They called on Thieu to order a special lower house session to write a new election law.

Police, meanwhile, arrested eight students possessing gasoline firebombs in a Saigon market place and sent reinforcements to several markets where reports indicated student activity might increase.

The arrests brought to 74 the number of persons taken into custody in three days of anti-Thieu protests in the capital. Most of them apparently have been released.

Da Nang, the nation's second largest city, was reported quiet but tense following three days of clashes between police and antigovernment veterans, students and Buddhist monks.

Some U.S. naval personnel in Saigon were restricted to their quarters because of what reliable informants said were reports that snipers might be active in the vicinity of Navy headquarters.

The newly formed Committee Against Dictatorship, consisting of leading political and religious figures, and the militant An Quang Buddhist faction, issued communiques urging voters to boycott the election and to repudiate the results.

The committee, headed by Hoa Hao sect politician Trinh Quoc Khanh, called on "all classes of people to unify in struggle against Nguyen Van Thieu, the dictator." It announced plans to hold a "people's congress" Friday to unify the opposition to the election.

The committee said it expects 2,000 delegates from throughout South Vietnam to attend the meeting at Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky's government guest house.

Ky, who charged the election is rigged and refused to run after being reinstated on the ballot, has lent his name to the organization but has remained behind the scenes.

In the Senate 28 senators postponed debate on a bill to discuss the election.

Sen. Ton That Dinh, publisher of the pro-Buddhist paper Cong Luan accused Thieu of "taking forceful measures against the press by deliberately seizing opposition publications" even though he had pledged Sept. 2 to give the opposition a hearing.

Airlifts Reinforces Several Bases

TAY NINH, Vietnam (AP) — An armada of U.S. and South Vietnamese helicopters lifted 2,000 South Vietnamese reinforcements into corridors on both sides of the Cambodian border today in an effort to lift sieges at two fire bases.

While the troops were being landed north of this forward base, enemy gunners fired seven 100-pound rockets at the headquarters of Lt. Gen. Nguyen Xuan Thinh, the field commander, a nearby helicopter pad.

The rockets fell short and landed in a refugee village outside the base, smashing a cluster of a half dozen shanty houses and shops, a Roman Catholic church and the market place. Six refugees from North Vietnam were killed, including two children, and about a dozen were wounded.

Thinh had just taken off in his helicopter to inspect field positions when the rockets landed. There are often three or four U.S. generals moving in and out of Thinh's headquarters, but at the time of the attack, only one was there.

U.S. rocket-firing gunships left the pad and attacked the rocket launching sites believed to be about two miles from the base.

Thinh said earlier that "many outposts" along a 30-mile stretch of Highway 22, 78 and 7—that run from Tay Ninh north to the Cambodian rubber plantation town of Krek—were shelled by North Vietnamese gunners overnight, and ground attacks were launched against two bases. He said, however, "there are indications the enemy has decreased the momentum of its offensive."

In Saigon, South Vietnamese headquarters reported 14 rocket and mortar attacks Wednesday and today against South Vietnamese positions along the stretch roughly 60 to 90 miles northwest of Saigon. Informants said 15 South Vietnamese soldiers were wounded.

Thinh said the two besieged fire bases Tran Hung Dao, on the Vietnamese side of the border 18 miles north of Tay Ninh, and Alpha, three miles east of Krek, were cut off but were being supplied by helicopters.

U.S., Egypt Working on Settlement

By KENNETH J. FREED

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad have agreed the United States should continue to work for an interim Mideast settlement, but they differ on the value of such efforts.

Riad emerged from a two-hour, ten-minute luncheon meeting Wednesday to tell newsmen: "Any effort by the United States or other big power to achieve peace is welcome." But he threw some cold water on this effort when he added: "The Jarring Mission is still the best way to achieve peace."

Riad was referring to the United Nations-sponsored effort by Swedish mediator Gunnar Jarring to work out a permanent settlement, one based on Israeli withdrawal from Egyptian territory occupied during the 1967 war.

Israel has rejected that approach and the Jarring mission has been dormant since Rogers opened his initiative earlier in the year to achieve an interim settlement by reopening the Suez canal.

The problem with such a temporary arrangement, Riad said, is that it might end up a permanent settlement, leaving Egypt without the territory it lost more than four years ago. He said it is the duty of the United States and other big powers to achieve Israel's agreement to the Jarring proposals.

U.S. officials acknowledged the ultimate value of a permanent settlement. State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said: "Both sides agreed an interim settlement is directly related to the effort to achieve a final peace. The interim settlement in itself is not a final solution."

But U.S. officials also emphasized their claim that realities make the interim settlement the best chance for reaching a final peace and all efforts should be directed now toward reopening the canal.

Both Riad and McCloskey made the usual statements Wednesday that follow such high-level meetings. The State Department spokesman said there was "a full and frank exchange of views."

Riad described the meeting as "a good and frank talk."

Kagebien Wins Stay of Execution

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Garry Brewer, Gov. Dale Bumpers' aide on prison affairs, said Wednesday the governor had issued an order staying the execution of Joe N. Kagebien pending the outcome of an appeal to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Kagebien, 16, of DeWitt was convicted in Circuit Court in Arkansas County last month for the slaying of Jimmy Wayne Wampler, a 27-year-old Wynne rice farmer. He was sentenced to die Oct. 11 in the electric chair.

An appeal of a death sentence is mandatory under Arkansas law. The Supreme Court automatically issues a stay of execution as soon as the record of the trial is filed with the court. In Kagebien's case, the record has not been filed.

Bumpers said about three weeks ago that he would stay Kagebien's execution pending the outcome of his appeal, if a stay was not issued by the high court.

The governor's order cancels the Oct. 11 execution date and only the chief executive has the authority to set a new execution date, Brewer said.

A new date would have to be set if the Supreme Court upheld the conviction, but even then Bumpers could prevent the execution by granting executive clemency to Kagebien.

Porter Gets Tough With Viet Cong

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — President Nixon's new Vietnam peace negotiator bluntly told Hanoi and the Viet Cong today they were in no position to dictate peace terms to the United States.

Referring to Communist demands for an unconditional American withdrawal from South Vietnam, Ambassador William J. Porter declared: "You apparently overlook the fact that your military position is unimpressive. One needs only to keep in mind that, of the 300 or so district and province capitals of South Vietnam, you do not hold a single one after these many years of war, and your best military efforts."

"You are, in fact, further from military victory than ever. In such circumstances, your use of peremptory language seems rather pretentious. Perhaps the use of such language is intended to conceal your lack of authority and military success in South Vietnam, but I would suggest that you keep in mind that your negotiating proposals would be much more effective if they reflected a greater sense of realism on your part."

Porter, who took over early in August as head of the U.S. delegation, was addressing the 130th session of the deadlocked negotiations.

He renewed an American plea for "civilized treatment" for American prisoners held by Hanoi and said this should be treated as a separate subject from political and military matters. The Communist negotiators invariably link the prisoner issue with the other aspects of a settlement.

The Viet Cong's acting peace negotiator, Dinh Ba Thi, quoted from the Old Testament to warn President Nixon of the consequences of keeping President Nguyen Van Thieu in power in Saigon.

"For he who sows the wind shall reap the whirlwind," said Thi. It was a paraphrase from the Book of Hosea.

Thi said Thieu was resorting to "Fascist brutality" in his suppression of protests against South Vietnam's one-man presidential election, and asserted that Nixon bore the ultimate responsibility for using Thieu as "an instrument of American oppression."

Guard Failed to Recognize Jackson

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — George Jackson was shot in the back from 271 feet away by a guard who didn't know he was gunning down the noted black revolutionary convict, San Quentin Warden Louis Nelson has disclosed.

Jackson was killed last Aug. 21 in what prison officials said was a prison break attempt. Two other prisoners and three guards were killed in the incident.

Nelson told the Los Angeles Times Wednesday the details of Jackson's death. He said they were included in a massive report concerning the incident—a report which has not been made public and is in the hands of the Marin County district attorney's office.

He said prison investigators found that Jackson was first hit in the left ankle, stumbled then began to race toward the 20-foot north wall of the prison. Nelson said Jackson "conceivably... could have made it over the north wall if he had been able to put the guard there out of commission."

Nelson said the guard, who was prone on the gun wall, saw a gun in Jackson's hands and opened fire as the inmate ran in a crouch. The guard had been alerted by another officer who called, "Inmate with a gun!" the warden said, but didn't know who the inmate was. Jackson was 271 feet from the guard when shot, Nelson added. He said an inmate running behind Jackson, John Larry Spain, dove into some bushes when Jackson was shot and was apprehended.

Authorities say the 9mm gun used by Jackson in the alleged break attempt was smuggled to him earlier by attorney Stephen Bingham, now sought on a murder charge. Nelson, asked why he thought Jackson would

White House Enters Labor Dispute

By TOM CRANE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Nixon administration today entered a labor dispute that could shut down the nation's remaining deep sea ports with a dock strike at midnight on the East and Gulf coasts.

Asst. Secretary of Labor W. J. Usery Jr. and Maritime Administration Director Andrew E. Gibson summoned shippers and officials of the strike-threatening AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association into an eleventh-hour meeting here.

The government officials appeared to be seeking the final positions of the parties on expiring contracts covering 45,000 dockworkers prior to a decision in Washington on whether to seek a Taft-Hartley injunction.

The probability of injunctive action came as a result of failure by negotiators to settle a three-month strike by 15,000 members of the independent International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union on the West Coast.

President Nixon, negotiating in the West Coast dockworkers' last week, had indicated he would reluctantly resort to Taft-Hartley and its 80-day injunction provision if the strike on the Pacific Coast was not terminated promptly.

The urgency of the situation lay in the prospect that all but the Great Lakes ports would be closed to dry cargo shipping for the first time in the nation's history, with only military shipments exempted.

Oleg Lyalin Defects to England

By ANTHONY COLLINGS
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The Foreign Office reported today that the Soviet KGB agent who defected to England was a member of the Soviet Trade Commission in London. It named him as Oleg Lyalin, 34.

His defection placed into the hands of the British documents that have led the government to issue orders for the expulsion of 90 Soviets based in London and the barring of 15 others from returning.

A Foreign Office spokesman said Lyalin is the man supposed to have appeared in court this morning on a drunken driving charge placed against him a month ago.

The London Daily Express said in a story published before the Foreign Office report that it had learned the name of the defector through the pending court case, but his name in court records was given as Lialine.

Asked if the newspaper report identifying the defector was correct, the spokesman said only that the KGB official named by the Foreign Office last week "is a man named Oleg Lyalin and he was an officer of the Soviet trade delegation."

The traffic case came up this morning at Great Marborough St. Court. But the defendant failed to appear. The courtroom was jammed because of the Daily Express story.

Court attaches and police who were present in unusual strength declined all comments. None would discuss even the theory that Lyalin is under a British intelligence and Foreign Office umbrella that would satisfy the court and lead to shelving of the drunk-driving charge.

The Express said the hint to its identification came from Soviet Embassy second secretary Vladimir Pavlov, who told a reporter that the defector was a trade official recently involved in a traffic case.

After checking police records, the newspaper concluded he meant Lialine, and splashed the story under a giant headline: "Super Spy Oleg."

Late editions of other newspapers picked up the Express story under headlines reading: "Master Spy Unmasked" and "Oleg, the Spy Who Talked."

Asked to confirm the report, Soviet Embassy and British government officials refused comment.

The British have kept the defector's identity secret since announcing last Friday that a Soviet KGB—secret police—agent had chosen asylum here and handed over valuable information on fellow spies. The government then ordered 90 Russian officials out of the country and refused new visas to 15 others.

The Express said that after Lialine was arrested in central London early Aug. 30 he feared he would be in trouble with his superiors in Moscow and decided to defect to Britain.

Lockheed Says Blunders Was Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — Management blunders on the C-5A transport cost so much and caused so much confusion "it was like a thousand blind dogs turned loose in a meat market," a former Lockheed Aircraft production manager has told a congressional committee.

Declaring he and his family were subjected to death threats after he made his story public, Henry M. Durham gave details of snafus he said added millions of dollars to C-5A costs.

"In my opinion the Air Force was in collusion with Lockheed to sell work when the work had not been accomplished, and to falsify records—or else the Air Force is blind," he added.

Durham's accusations were denied immediately by Lockheed Vice President H. L. Poore who said he deplored threats on Durham's life but believes too much attention is being paid to the story of one man in possession of "incomplete facts."

"Usually the name of the game in any situation was to make schedule, regardless of the price," Durham told Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Resumption of the draft with an expected call today of up to 12,000 men for the remaining three months of the year may set a pattern for quarterly calls in the future.

Pentagon officials say Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird hopes to do away with the traditional monthly draft call, favoring instead announcements every three months.

Laird, who spearheaded the administration's drive to institute a national lottery last year, contends quarterly calls would give longer notice and further reduce uncertainty for 19-year-olds over their chances in the draft.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedman told newsmen Wednesday the new call of about 12,000 will cover inductions for October, November and December and bring the total number of men drafted in 1971 to under 100,000.

The last time inductions fell below 100,000 was in 1962 when 76,500 were called.

Draft calls in the first six months of this year totaled 88,000. A call of 16,000 was issued for July and August but this was forgotten when conscription authority died with the old draft law June 30.

A bill renewing the draft for two years was signed Tuesday by President Nixon. The administration hopes to end draft calls and field an all-volunteer force by mid-1973.

Under the new call, actual inductions are not expected to begin until about mid-October. Selective Service is required by law to give a man at least 10 days' notice before he must report.

Men with low draft numbers who have lost their deferments—primarily students graduated from college in June, or dropouts—are expected to be the first called.

Selective Service officials have said nearly every qualified man with lottery no. 125 or lower will be called. It is possible men with numbers as high as 140 also may get notices.

Although the draft lapsed for three months, the Selective Service machinery was kept intact and men were called for preinduction physicals.

tations on limiting antiballistic missile (ABM) and offensive missiles of the two sides.

In similar vein Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko hailed the side accords as "the first tangible result" of the two-year-old SALT negotiations and added:

The hot line and accidental war prevention accords, which are going into effect immediately, were worked out by technicians alongside the main SALT talks.

The 1963 hot line set up for instant contact between the White House and Kremlin in case of crisis has been routed so far through transatlantic cables and European land lines. A backup link uses radio.

With the development of communications satellites, the two nations agreed to update their emergency communications link by using two satellite systems. One is the Western Intelsat system already in operation. The other is the new Soviet Molniya II slated to be operational by 1973.

The accord aimed at preventing nuclear war by accident provides that each country will maintain and improve its safeguard arrangements against accidental or unauthorized use of its nuclear weapons.

The two nations agree to notify each other at once in event of an accidental, unauthorized or unexplained incident involving possible explosion of a nuclear weapon risking outbreak of war.

President Nixon conferred with Gromyko for two hours Wednesday, including a half-hour with no aides present.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said that in the talks ranging across major international issues, Nixon and Gromyko had noted "some steady progress" in the U.S.-Soviet strategic arms limitation

Hampton Demands Apology

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Rep. Wayne Hampton of Stuttgart, a former chairman of the state Highway Commission, has asked that Herbert McAdams, chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, make a public apology to a member of the commission because of criticism by the AIDC.

Hampton, in a letter to McAdams, called for a public apology to Maurice Smith of Birdseye, a Highway Commission member.

Smith told newsmen at a meeting Wednesday that he had been called by McAdams and told that the criticism at a recent AIDC meeting reflected the opinion of only one member and not of the entire AIDC. However, there was no indication of whether the action resulted from Hampton's letter.

McAdams' office said Wednesday he was out of town. It was not known whether he had seen Hampton's request.

The criticism said the Highway Commission acted like "a little kingdom responsible to no one" and that its method of operation had been harmful to the effort to industrialize the state in recent years.

Hampton said, however, that he believed the criticism to be an excuse for a poor job on the part of the AIDC. The industrial development group will "continue to shrink under its present management," Hampton told McAdams.

He told the AIDC chairman that he could recall that Smith had cooperated with McAdams in completing a multimillion dollar highway improvement project in Jonesboro, where McAdams formerly lived.

John Harsh, chairman of the Highway Commission, said Wednesday the criticism from the AIDC members was apparently based on ignorance.

He added, however, that the commission was ready and willing to work with the AIDC in building roads that would enhance efforts to further attract industry to the state, if finances permit.

"It's kind of hard for us to go get an industry when we're trying to build roads to industries that we already have," Harsh said.

Bad Publicity Credited for Enrollment

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Dr. Lawrence A. Davis, president of Arkansas AM&N College at Pine Bluff, Wednesday blamed the decreased enrollment at the college this fall on adverse publicity and a late registration date.

Davis told a meeting of the AM&N Board of Trustees that enrollment was 2,962 this year, compared to 3,534 in 1970.

The legislature earlier this year approved a supplemental appropriation of $1.8 million to pay off debts AM&N had incurred. In addition, six employees or former employees of the college were indicted by a Jefferson County Grand Jury in connection with a $92,000 shortage in AM&N cash funds.

At Wednesday's meeting, Sam Anderson of Helena was re-elected chairman of the board. The Rev. Maren Williams of McGehee was elected vice chairman and York Williams of Dermott was elected secretary.

In other action, the board gave Davis a vote of confidence and requested that he continue to serve the school in his capacity as president.

talks (SALT) which recessed at Helsinki a week ago.

"The President is hopeful there will be additional forward movement when the talks resume in Vienna in November," Ziegler said.

The SALT talks are aimed at curbing the superpower nuclear arms race. Last May 20 the two sides announced their intention to strive this year for an antiballistic-missile limitation plus measures to restrict offensive missiles.

Ziegler termed the atmosphere of the White House session "very cordial" but gave few specifics beyond naming topics discussed: Berlin, SALT, European security, the Middle East, Vietnam and improving U.S.-Soviet relations.

Suite Filed in Death of Prisoner

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — The administrators of the estate of a former Mississippi County Penal Farm inmate filed suit Wednesday in U.S. District Court at Jonesboro in connection with the inmate's death.

The body of Nathan Smith Jr., who was serving a sentence for petty larceny, was found in a drainage ditch Aug. 6 near Keiser.

The suit is against the penal farm, Mississippi County Judge A. A. Banks, Dan Blodgett, former farm superintendent, and the present superintendent.

The plaintiffs in the suit are Ben Smokey Jr., administrator of Nathan's estate, and the deceased youth's father, Nathan Smith Sr.

The suit charges that Smith was "killed while working with hardened adult criminals as a member of an inmate bridge repair crew from the prison farm."

The plaintiffs want the youth's body, which they say was buried without a coroner's inquest, exhumed and examined. The suit stipulates that if Smith's death was "due to willful and intentional" actions by the defendants, the plaintiffs should receive $25,000 in actual damages and $100,000 in punitive damages. If his death was not due to such willful and intentional actions, they request a $25,000 damage award.

29 Americans Killed in Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 29 Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week, the first time in 11 weeks that U.S. combat deaths exceeded 20.

The toll was 16 higher than the number reported for the previous week.

A command spokesman, Maj. Richard Gardner, said that part of the increase last week was due to administrative changes in casualty listings. He said six men previously carried as missing or wounded were now reported as dead. Several others included in last week's toll, he said, resulted from delays in reports or identifications.

The command's weekly summary also showed 47 Americans were wounded in action last week, a drop of 64 from the previous week. In addition, the command said, six Americans died from accidents and illnesses, half of the number who died from nonhostile causes a week earlier.

The South Vietnamese command reported 263 government troops were killed and 615 were wounded last week, compared with 397 killed and 755 wounded two weeks ago.

The two allied commands jointly claimed 1,331 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers killed last week, a drop from the 1,572 reported in the previous week.

The latest official figures raised casualty totals for the war to:

United States—45,543 killed, 301,747 wounded, and 9,787 deaths from nonhostile causes.

South Vietnam—133,617 killed, 289,250 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong—773,768 killed.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — There were William Powell and Myrna Loy of "The Thin Man." There were Barbra Britton and Richard Denning of "Mr. and Mrs. North." Now, alas, there is Rock Hudson and Susan Saint James of NBC's "McMillan and Wife."

It has been a long time since television has attempted a frolicsome mystery series. This one arrived Wednesday complete with madcap wife, comedy detective sergeant and disappearing corpses plus creepy things going bump in the night.

The premiere took off with a forced gaiety and a silly complicated plot full of red herrings. As a result it was neither good comedy nor good suspense. In spite of the presence of attractive Rock Hudson, it appears to be the weakest of the three series which will fill the weekly 90-minute "Mystery Movie."

Hudson, with longish hair and handlebar mustache, plays a swinging San Francisco police commissioner who seems to spend most of his time dealing with assassins, open graves and collapsing curtain rods. He seems to be the one straight man in a cast of comedians.

The show opened with the McMillans moving into a new house. Miss Saint James opened what she believed to be a barrel of wedgewood, but it contained a corpse. By the time help arrived, the barrel and its contents had disappeared.

What was designed to be a merry romp followed. A man with distinctive sneakers—he was shown only from the waist down—did a lot of slinking around in the dark. Miss Saint James screamed in terror a lot but kept on doing unlikely things including visiting a sinister warehouse alone after hours.

Hudson kept rescuing her—finally from a barrel which had been tossed in a river—and assuring her that everything would be all right.

The comedy murder is an acceptable entertainment form—such classics as "Seven Keys to Baldpate" and "Arsenic and Old Lace" prove that. But the comedy part has to work. Maybe it would help things if the McMillans were given a dog. Asta certainly did a lot for "The Thin Man."

Earlier on NBC, the prowling team of "Adam 12" was busy solving a holdup in a shop run by a group of grandmothers and specializing in bargain pot holders. The officer took time out during the investigation to help a priest nail a marijuana peddler—just another routine day in the lives of a couple of Los Angeles cops, and a mildly amusing way for viewers to kill an early-evening 30 minutes.

THE GENERATION RAP

—by Helen and Sue Bottel

HAPPINESS IS A STATE OF MIND, NOT GEPGRAPHY

Dear Bottels:
I really had to laugh when I read the letter from "Pregnant But Happy" who complains about the up-tight Bible Belt sex laws.

I'd like to invite her to join us in the most sexually liberated state in the union, so she can see that it is not such a paradise: In California promiscuity doesn't have to be learned on the back roads—it is taught in school. The only Bibles our lawmakers know about are ones written by Dr. David Reuben or the Sensuous Woman!

We are very happy here with adultery so rampant, and the divorce rate rivaling the marriage rate. V.D. is in epidemic state—and it can be treated without parent's knowledge. Abortions are legal—they can also be obtained by minors without parental consent. And often they're paid for by taxpayers' money!

Any child can buy pornographic literature off the racks, but he can't purchase tobacco. Lawmakers allow certain forms of gambling (horse races, etc.) but they absolutely forbid churches to run their EVIL little bingo games.

Everybody knows where the drug culture and the revolutionary anarchists and Maoists started: In California.

So you see, Miss P.B.H., those Bible Belt "repressions" aren't so bad after all. —SEXUALLY LIBERATED AFTER MY WEDDING DAY
Dear SLAMWID:

California may be your home address, but you're LIVING in a State of Anxiety—which you'd carry with you wherever you moved, even to the Bible Belt (whose people are no more "repressive" than westerners or easterners, according to our mail).

We LIKE our State, friend, earthquakes, oil slicks, smog, down-graders and Nader's Raiders notwithstanding—and we believe that most of its social reform laws are good. Naturally there are flaws, but we prefer to see a glass half-full, rather than half-empty. All in all, we're mighty glad to call ourselves—FELLOW CALIFORNIANS, HELEN AND SUE

Dear Helen and Sue:
"Nita" asked if other "mixed" people would write, telling how they felt about being interracial. This is from one who is also cursed, or blessed as you will, by that situation.

Being mixed is being the only one of your kind, often lonely, sometimes wonderful. It's being wrong before you start, with no way to make it right. Being mixed is having the faults and virtues of more than one race—being so different that people often wonder who and what you are, and you can't tell them because you don't know.

Being mixed is being rejected by people with a problem—not yours, but theirs. It's trying to be all yellow, red, black or brown, but no one will let you. Being mixed is being brave, not taking your God-given talents and just being YOU.

... And it means maybe not getting married unless you find a very brave man. —ANOTHER MIXED
Dear "Rap":
We are a family of "interracialists," and we couldn't be happier. It seems that our children and grandchildren have drawn strengths from both sides. If there has been discrimination, they aren't aware of it. They are leaders, both in school and out. They are proud of their heritage. There is no reason—these days—why those of ANY race should not happily mix. —C.F.

Lecithins Won't Eliminate Obesity

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I have read in two health magazines recently concerning lecithin and both state it is a soya bean product. It is helpful in breaking up fats in the blood stream and also good for the nerves. This conflicts with your comment that lecithin is an unsaturated fat found in egg yolk and brain. Your advice was to forget it. Are there different kinds of lecithin? Is this soya bean product advisable?

My husband is 30 pounds overweight and has a cholesterol problem. He's always tired and every time he lifts a finger he puffs. He has tried many diets to no avail. When tensions mount—especially at work—he heads for the slot machine for food. He thought perhaps this lecithin would help to break up some of the fats.

I am really concerned about my husband. I've watched the food here at home, but it's his habits at work and also weekends that are doing the damage. What's your comment?

Dear Reader—There are a variety of substances of similar chemical composition to the lecithin found in egg yolks and brain that are grouped with the lecithins. The compound you mention is probably one (an unsaturated fat).

Unfortunately, none of the polyunsaturated fats, or vitamins eliminate obesity. Only two things work, eating fewer calories or using more by activity.

In some cases polyunsaturated

Tailored Look

It's back to the tailored look for women's suits—wide laped jackets with flared pants, slung low on the hips, with man-tailored shirts. Make sure the accessories go with it. Try little boyish shoes, a cravat and a plain square leather pocketbook.

Face Attention

Keep your ears warm and the attention on your face this winter. Wear a knit hat pulled down onto the forehead. These are called cloche hats and they come in various fabrics and designs.

Patch Pockets

Patch pockets in contrasting colors, which were so popular with corduroy jeans, can be used for more elegant outfits. Cut out squares of white lace or brightly colored velvet and give a patch-pocket look to a black velvet dress.

Chubbies

A fashionable cover-up for the cooler evenings which lie ahead is the curly or furry little jackets called chubbies. These jackets look great with pants or the midi.

Since getting back into bridge Y and Z have been learning as many modern bidding gadgets as possible. Thus, when Y jumped to four clubs, Z realized that his partner was using a splinter bid to establish spades as the trump suit and to show a singleton club.

Z didn't have much of a hand but a singleton club fitted with his weak club suit. Anyway Z is an over-bidder so he cue bid four hearts.

This gave Y a chance to use another gadget. He bid five no-trump. This is the grand-slam force invented by Ely Culbertson almost 40 years ago and revived by the modernists. It asks partner to bid a grand slam with two of the three top trump honors. Z obliged.

West opened the three of trumps. Z won with dummy's eight and tried to count to 13 tricks. There were 11 in top cards. Two more could be obtained by ruffing twice in either hand and Z decided to attempt to ruff two of dummy's diamonds.

He cashed dummy's ace and king and ruffed with the ace of trumps. West discarded a heart. This worried Z a trifle but he still led a heart toward dummy. When no one ruffed that he was home. He simply ruffed the last diamond with his king of trumps; led his last trump to dummy; drew West's trumps and claimed the grand slam.

Bobcats Prepare for Malvern

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Just how important is Friday night's game against the Malvern Leopards going to be? Would you believe the 7AA championship could be riding on the outcome for the Hope Bobcats?

Malvern is 2-0 in conference play while Hope is 1-1, and that could mean quite a lot tomorrow night. With a Bobcat victory, both teams would boast 2-1 conference records and give the Cats a solid shot for the title.

Hope has been practicing hard since Monday, getting ready for the all important game in which the Cats know will be very tough as usual. Malvern has built up a strong team and is also a title contender with a 2-2 seasonal record. Both losses were non-conference.

The Leopards will be led by quarterback Bryan Bond, a 156 pound junior, who has a good throwing arm with a lot of zip on the ball. With Bond at the controls, the Leopards have become a real passing team this year, leading the conference in passes attempted.

Top runners for Malvern will be Ervin Nichols, Paul Calway, and J. R. Ross. Nichols is a 175 pound senior with good running and blocking ability while Ross is the best Leopard back with good speed and quickness.

Some of Malvern's main linemen are Allen Petray, Dwayne Burks, Dave Dial, Mark Burris, and Malcom Mowdy.

Petray is a two-way starter for the Leopards at guard on offense and left tackle on defense. He could also be a possible all-district candidate. Burks is a 193 pound senior while Dial weighs about 240.

Burris is a 190 pound guard that stands about 6-1 and is a senior while Mowdy is a tackle, 190 pound senior with good blocking technique.

Bond's main receivers will be David Pennington at slotback, with Ricky Doss and David Reeves at the ends. Pennington is a very good receiver with fine hands and acceptable speed. Doss and Reeves both are fair blockers and can catch the ball. All three are seniors and range from 150 to 160 pounds.

Some of the defensive mainstays are Richard Hathcock at tackle along with Petray, Dan Ratcliffe, and Gary Wilks. Hathcock is a 170 pound senior with Ratcliffe and Wilks both only being juniors. Ratcliffe is the largest at 175 pounds.

Overall, the Leopards are big, have some speed, and are hard to move the ball against. They don't run long pass patterns but will try to complete short ones for the first downs. The running game has shown considerable improvement each week and could be hard to stop, and of course every game the Leopards play against the Bobcats, is always a tough one.

Rod Laver Favored at Redwood

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Eight of tennis' 10 leading money winners, headed by favored Rod Laver of Australia, continue pursuit today of the $10,000 first prize in the Redwood Bank International Open Tennis Championships.

Laver, back from a month's layoff from the tournament, won a second-round match Wednesday from Alex Olmedo, 6-4, 6-1.

Olmedo, a Beverly Hills, Calif. hotel pro, returned to the circuit this year after a six-year layoff.

In today's round of 16, Laver opposes fellow Australian Roy Emerson who scored a rain-delayed 6-3, 6-4 victory over Habioun Rahim, a UCLA student from Pakistan.

Ark. State Is No. 1 in Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The top 10 teams in college division football poll remained unbeaten but there were plenty of jumps and drops in The Associated Press balloting with Arkansas State taking over the No. 1 position.

The Indians defeated North-east Louisiana State 20-6 last Saturday and Wednesday's poll moved them up from No. 2 with a total of eight first-place votes. North Dakota State, last week's No. 2, fell into second with five top votes after they edged South Dakota 16-15.

Arkansas State registered 236 total votes to North Dakota State's 234.

Votes cast by a special panel of sports writers and broadcasters are awarded on the basis of 20 for a first-place vote, 18 for second, down to one vote for the 15th team placed.

Grambling retained third place with a 20-16 victory over Arkansas AM&N, but the remaining teams all changed.

Western Kentucky climbed into fourth from the sixth slot of a week ago with a 46-7 stomping of Austin Peay. Montana dropped from fourth to No. 5, even with its 38-14 victory over California Poly.

Delaware moved up a notch to sixth with a 40-0 decision over New Hampshire, and Louisiana Tech got No. 7, after being ninth a week ago, by beating Lamar Tech 26-7.

Eastern Michigan with an open date dropped to eighth from No. 5.

Eastern Kentucky dropped a place to ninth after defeating East Tennessee State 26-14, and Tennessee State, the only new member of the Top 10, was an 18-7 victor over Alcorn A&M to take the No. 10 post.

Broyles Is Unhappy With Practice

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said following Wednesday's workout that it was the "poorest" practice the offense has had all year.

"I have no explanation of the poor showing," said Broyles. "It just disappoints me."

Broyles said both the offense and defense had lost starters due to injuries. He said defensive halfback Corky Cordell and center Ron Revard missed practice Wednesday with injuries suffered during Tuesday's practice. He said it was not known if either of the two would be available for Saturday's game with TCU.

Cordell suffered a bruised knee and Revard was out with a back injury.

Captains named for Saturday's game were offensive tackle Mike Kelson and defensive halfback Jack Morris.

and 32nd home runs of the season for the White Sox and Wilbur Wood pitched a five-hit victory No. 22. Melton's blasts tied him with Reggie Jackson of Oakland and Norm Cash of Detroit for the league lead and he can take the home run title Thursday with another one since the A's and Tigers have finished their schedules.

Mickey Lolich of Detroit failed to gain his 26th victory for the third straight time but did manage to take the league victory title with one more than Blue. He also struck out seven to finish with 308, tops in the majors.

But Vince Colbert stifled the Tigers on three hits for the Indians' victory as Graig Nettles drove in what proved to be the decisive run with a third-inning single.

Mel Stottlemyre went the distance against the Senators for his 16th victory and Felipe Alou's bases-loaded single highlighted a four-run fifth inning that carried the Yankees to victory.

PITCHING — Ken Forsch, Astros, pitched a nine-hitter as Houston bombed Los Angeles 11-0 to prevent the Dodgers from gaining a share of the National League West lead with San Francisco.

BATTING — Nate Colbert, Padres, boomed a three-run homer, his 27th, with one out in the bottom of the 10th inning that powered San Diego to a 4-1 victory over San Francisco and kept the Giants from clinching the National League West flag.

Arkansas Football Predictions

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Neither Little Rock Catholic nor Benton can afford to forget the task at hand Friday night.

Second-ranked Catholic must forget about next week's meeting with top-ranked Fort Smith Northside.

Sixth-ranked Benton has to push aside the memory of last week's 20-19 upset of Hot Springs.

Catholic and Benton, once rivals in Class AA, meet Friday night at Benton with a high spot in the rankings at stake.

Catholic has beaten Little Rock Hall and Little Rock Central and is tied with Northside for the lead in the AAAA conference. Benton is 2-0 in AAA-West after surprising defending champion Hot Springs.

Benton has won three in a row since losing its opener to Class AAAA North Little Rock Northeast, but the Rockets have had two weeks to get ready.

LR CATHOLIC 20, BENTON 14.

Seventh-ranked El Dorado journeys to North Little Rock Friday night for an important AAAA contest. Both have lost once in AAAA play. El Dorado dropped a 9-0 decision to Northside and North Little Rock lost to Little Rock Hall 14-0. Two conference losses would all but eliminate a team from the conference race.

El Dorado warmed up for North Little Rock with a 20-7 victory over Little Rock McClellan. North Little Rock may have a difficult time rebounding from the loss to Hall.

EL DORADO 13, NORTH LITTLE ROCK 7.

Helena is faced with the task of doing something no one else has been able to do — halt Forrest City's Robert Lee Steward. Steward has scored 10 touchdowns while helping the fourth-ranked Mustangs to three straight victories. Helena is 2-1 in AAA-East and Forrest City is 2-0.

As long as Steward is healthy, Forrest City will be stout.

FORREST CITY 27, HELENA 14.

Last week's percentage was .696, lowering the season's percentage to .724.

Ginger May Prevent the Final Game

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The 71-year reign of baseball in the nation's capital comes to an end tonight, and the biggest splash may be made by a windy lady named Ginger.

"I don't think there will be a final game," said slugger Frank Howard. "I hope we do get it in and give the fans one worth next season, although there is a strong possibility the hurricane Ginger was pounding the southern Virginia shore early today with the storm expected to be felt in Washington sometime tonight. Weathermen called the chance of rain by game time 50-50.

The New York Yankees dampened what might have been the farewell game for the Senators, 8-3, Wednesday night. Felipe Alou stroked a bases-loaded single to lead a four-run Yankee rally in the fifth.

The American League already has approved the Senators' move to Dallas-Fort Worth next season, although there is a strong possibility the

Harris Signs With Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) — "I really believe the personnel, considering the way the young players came along and with possible trades and changes, is the best I've ever taken to spring training," Luman Harris said Wednesday after signing his fifth one-year contract to manage the Atlanta Braves.

Harris' future with the Braves was uncertain until club President Bill Bartholomay made the announcement at a news conference Wednesday, only 30 minutes after advising Harris of the decision.

"I'm happy to be coming back," said Harris, whose club clinched third place in the National League West with a 4-0 victory over Cincinnati Tuesday night. Atlanta ends its season tonight against the Reds. Harris, 56, became the Braves manager after piloting the club's farm at Richmond to the International League title in 1967. His Braves won the 1959 National League West crown and finished fifth in 1968 and 1970.

NAME CHANGE

The Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) will consider a proposal to change its name to the American Athletic Union at its annual convention this fall. The AAU will also study changes in the definition of "amateur" in its rules and addition of athletes to some committees.

Mayor Lindsay Looks Like a Candidate

By BILL STALL
Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York is closer to being a candidate for president today after spending 51 hours in California, an aide says.

Tom Morgan, the mayor's press aide and adviser, said one key development was Lindsay's declaration at a news conference that he would enter presidential primary contests if, when decision time arrives, he thinks that is his "role."

"We didn't leave New York planning to say that," Morgan said. The reaction of party regulars to the Lindsay foray, as a newcomer to the Democratic party, was mixed. But Morgan said that was not unexpected.

Lindsay's "soundings out here" reinforced his belief that he has a role to play in 1972, perhaps as a Democratic candidate for the White House, Morgan said.

He said Lindsay was pleased with the trip, built around a long-standing commitment to address the League of California Cities, and the discovery that in some quarters there is "more than a little interest in the kind of politics he represents."

Lindsay aides were encouraged by the reception he received during a 1½-hour meeting Tuesday with union officials in the Fairmont Hotel on Nob Hill.

Among those present was Harry Bridges, head of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, who was noncommittal when he left the meeting. But others openly acknowledged that they liked Lindsay's talk about forming a coalition involving young people and labor unions.

"I'm very impressed with him," said Tom Twomey of the Hospital Workers Union. The meeting was arranged by San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto who is engaged in a tough re-election campaign—a campaign that won the hearty endorsement of Lindsay at an Alioto rally Monday night.

Lindsay said Tuesday, "I learned a good deal about the problems of the working man on the West Coast."

When he left California, his position still was that he is not a candidate and does not plan to be one but that should he decide to enter the contest he would go into the primaries.

"I would have no hesitation, I want to assure you, of running in primaries if I thought that would be the best role I could play and the most effective way to get a message across," Lindsay said.

Hungarian Relations May Improve

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department and Hungarian diplomats are expressing hope for improved U.S.-Hungarian relations in the wake of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty's decision to leave the American embassy in Budapest after 15 years of asylum.

There were denials all around that the cardinal's departure Tuesday for Rome has any direct link to relations between the two countries, but officials from each government indicated optimism about settling outstanding issues.

Most active of these issues involves more than $100 million in claims against the Budapest government—$80 million the United States wants as compensation for war damage in nationalization of property and up to $50 million private American groups say is owed for defaulted bonds issued before World War II.

Coal Miners Agreement Ends Tonight

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiations covering 80,000 coal miners are moving toward a midnight contract-expiration deadline tonight with no hint of a settlement and indications of possible strikes.

"Some of those miners have a history of jumping the gun," said one source of the walkout possibility in some of the 20 coal-producing states.

"They're meeting," was the only official word of the talks between the United Mine Workers and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

Sources said it appeared virtually impossible to write a formal contract before midnight, and even a general memorandum of understanding probably wouldn't impress coal miners whose tradition is "no contract, no work."

They did not rule out, however, the possibility of a contract extension.

Complicating negotiations is the federal wage-price freeze and uncertainty over what economic restraints President Nixon might impose after the freeze.

Sources in the coal talks have indicated both sides wanted to reach an interim settlement and avoid a strike, but negotiators reportedly still were far from agreement on wages and other crucial money matters. No contract increases can go into effect until after the freeze and even then might be limited by the government.

UMW President W.A. "Tony" Boyle has said he would seek to boost current top wages from $37 to $50 per day, to at least double the current 40-cent-per-ton royalty for the union's welfare and retirement fund and to win other benefits.

A group of anti-Boyle miners attacked him and the fund for a report showing it operated $38 million in the red the past fiscal year, although it still retains an unspent balance of nearly $113 million.

Mike Trbovich, chairman of the Black Lung Association, said the union's leadership in dealing with road revenue problems.

said in a statement that the fund's operating deficit weakens the union's position in the negotiations.

They said at the current rate of spending the fund would be bankrupt by 1975, and accused Boyle of playing into the hands of coal operators by manipulating the fund into deficit spending.

Commission Disappointed With Bumpers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Four of the five members of the state Highway Commission expressed disappointment Wednesday with the lack of leadership by Gov. Dale Bumpers in the quest for additional highway revenue.

The commissioners, commenting to newsmen at the regular monthly meeting of the commission, showed disgruntlement they had not previously displayed toward Bumpers' actions in the highway revenue field.

George Kell of Swifton, Bumpers' only appointee to the commission was the only one who declined to use the term "disappointed" in describing his own assessment of the governor's leadership.

Kell said, however, that he like the other commissioners, supported the $300 million bond issue proposal vetoed by Bumpers earlier this year before it could be voted on by the public.

Commissioner Lawrence Blackwell of near Pine Bluff said the commission had not publicly pressured Bumpers to any great extent while the governor was deciding whether to veto the bond bill.

"We didn't raise a lot of hullabaloo then," Blackwell said. "I, for one, didn't want the governor to sign any kind of bond bill with tongue in cheek. He's got to put his prestige in the hopper with it (for it to succeed)."

The commissioners said they did not exclude any potential source of added revenue — bonds, tax increases or toll routes that may prove feasible — and said they hoped Bumpers would endorse and push for some form of revenue increase.

"I'm hopeful he will arrive at a position of very active leadership," Blackwell said.

Asked if Bumpers had done so thus far, Blackwell said, "Not that I'm aware of. Perhaps I'm telling you more about what I hope."

Commission Chairman John Harsh of Magnolia said he was not satisfied with Bumpers' leadership in dealing with road revenue problems.

Pope Paul Opens Third World Synod

By PATRICK O'KEEFE
Associated Press Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI opened the third World Synod of Bishops today by concelebrating a colorful Mass in the Sistine Chapel. He was joined by Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, the Hungarian primate just given amnesty from a life term in prison.

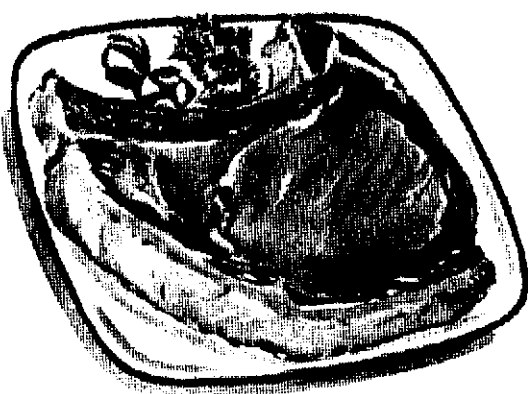

The synod, to last a month, will deal with the issues of a crisis-ridden priesthood and the Church's role in combating social injustices.

Early soundings among bishop delegates indicate a strong conservative trend on the question of priestly celibacy, the most controversial part of the priesthood discussion. Even such liberal figures as England's John Cardinal Heenan and Canada's Bishop Alexander Carter have displayed great caution in discussing a possible change to a married clergy.

This morning's Mass included the color and pageantry of great liturgy at the Vatican. The 74-year-old pontiff was dressed in his white robes and the bishops in scarlet with gold crosses on their chests.
